

Video – Representation of story flow (grammar)

Story Grammar

describes the structure of a story including story elements, such as setting, characters, events, resolution, etc., and the relationships between them.

Main influenced by Propp's work on Russian folktales and Chomsky's transformational grammar.

[Colby (1973); Knitsch & van Dijk (1978); Lakoff (1972); Mandler (1977); Rumelhart (1975, 1977); Thorndyke (1977)].

